~~The Blue-Brown Shop brings you the Carol Currian Show.~~

Sean : (pronounced Shawn) singing, to the tune of "Do You Ken John Peel?"

Do you ~~Ken~~ Seanee

With his coat so sleek?

Do you ken SeaNee

Walking down Green Street?

Hello I'm Sean, the red setter who lives in the Blue-Brown Shop, at 46 Green Street. The Blue-Brown Shop is the place where my mistress Marguerette Himes has all of those beautiful kilts, made to order out of imported scotch plaid that you choose.

Girl: Oh Sean, I'd just love to have one of those kilts made out of a bright plaid but, even though they're only $29.95, I can't fit one into my budget right now, with Christmas coming.

Sean: Well, Christmas should solve your problem. Just order one of those kilts now, and ask Santa for the money to pay for it. Tell him how good-looking the kilts at the Blue-Brown Shop are; how a kilt is never out of style; and how well those beautiful imported materials last. While you're over at the Blue-Brown Shop, at 46 Green Street, take a look at the wonderful gift ideas there.

Girl: That's a wonderful idea, Sean. Goodbye.

Sean: Goodbye. (singing)

In the Blue-Brown Shop

There are plaids so bright.

To make shorts and kilts

And they look just right.

BOOK REVIEW

~~The Carol Currian Show~~ has been brought to you by the Blue-Brown Shop.

Sean: (singing , as above, at the beginning.) Hello I-me did you go into the Blue-Brown Shop at 46 Green Street, and look at those beautiful kilts?

And while you were there did you see all of the wonderful gifts that you can get for Christmas?

Girl: Yes, I saw those wonderful bags and scarves that the Blue-Brown Shop has, made out of the same imported plaid material that's used in the kilts. A pair of accessories like that will be just perfect for my mother or sister. And they're only $4.95 for the scarves, and $10.95 and $12.95 for the bags.

Sean: And don't forget those good-looking plaid ties for your father or brother, for $4.95, and scarves to match. You can get any three of the $4.95 items- two scarves and one tie- or any other combination of three, for only $12.95. The Blue-Brown Shop is the answer to all of your Christmas problems. Don't forget to go to 46 Green Street for unusual and useful gifts.
